October 4-10, 2020
Anytime of day!

WHAT IS ON THE TABLE?

On the Table is an opportunity to gather for meaningful conversations to build personal connections and explore how we work together to make our communities stronger.

Your voice matters. And when we share our voices and listen to each other, we have the power to make our communities great. It simply takes a conversation.

During the week of October 4, 2020, residents of Richland and Lexington Counties will come together to share ideas for improving our region. We invite you and your families, neighbors, colleagues, and friends—old and new—to pull up a chair or join a virtual conversation and discuss the ways in which we—as individuals and as a collective—can, and do, work to make our communities stronger.

WHO?

People from Richland, Lexington, and Sumter Counties, from all walks of life, are invited to host and attend On the Table discussions.

WHERE?

Anywhere! On the Table conversations can take place virtually or in-person, following the safety guidelines. Resources based on CDC guidelines will be provided to hosts to ensure the safety of their guests and the Midlands community.

WHY?

We know that big ideas can spring from small conversations and that people invest in what they help create. At Central Carolina Community Foundation, we are committed to bringing people together to create a more generous, vibrant, and engaged community.

On the Table conversations are meant to bring a diversity of voices to the discussions of who we are, our vision for the future and what we can do to get there together. What issues and opportunities should we address? And, what actions can we take together to make our communities better places for all residents?

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER OCTOBER 10TH?

All On the Table participants will be invited to complete a short email survey about their conversations that will cover important issues and themes, big ideas and what matters most to them. We want to hear from every voice!

A report highlighting the survey response will be issued by the Community Foundation after On the Table and will help inform efforts to improve our community in the months ahead.
